Dear Sir or Madam:

I'm writing to offer my suggestions on the improvement of our web. As the web is basically intended for us students, I think it is advisable that more photos about our campus life be provided to make it more appealing and attractive. Besides, I hope the Online News can be updated more often to keep us informed of what's going on in the world. Also, a new Reading Salon will be welcomed because we all love reading but right now we lack a platform where we can communicate with each other on the books we've just read.

I would appreciate it if you could consider my suggestions.

Best regards!

Li Hua

概要写作

As is widely known, any English conversation begins with The Weather, but few commentators can convincingly explain this English weather-speak. (要点 1) Bill Bryson holds that the obsession with the English weather isn't understandable as there's nothing unusual about it. (要点 2) Jeremy Paxman, however, argues that its attraction lies in its uncertainty. (要点 3) In fact, English weather-speak is not about the weather but a means of social bonding. (要点 4)
